

A Vast Network of Global Resources

Branching out from its corporate headquarters in the United States, GWW is continually searching the globe for the best raw materials, components and manufacturing capabilities. Through its privately held manufacturing facility in Costa Rica and exclusive partnerships with other overseas firms, you can rest assured that you'll have access to the right carrying case at the right price. Best of all, you have the assurance of partnering with a firm in the United States that is poised to respond to your needs immediately and professionally.

Costa Rica Manufacturing Facility:

GWW owns and operates its own state-of-the-art manufacturing facility in Costa Rica. Costa Rica is a country rich in textile, leather and wood artisans who bring their unique blend of skills to carrying case construction. As part of the Caribbean Free Basin Initiative, Costa Rica enjoys duty free import and export – keeping the cost of your products down. GWW corporate headquarters in the United States is tied directly into the systems of the Costa Rican operation, making real-time scheduling and production information available at a moment's notice.

Exclusive Global Partnerships:

When you partner with GWW, you'll benefit from a truly global network of carrying case solutions. In addition to its privately held plant in Costa Rica, GWW has forged exclusive partnerships with manufacturers in Asia and around the globe. GWW brings a world of carrying case options right to your doorstep, meeting your unique needs - at a price point that offers you a competitive edge.

